SECOND SUNDAY OF ADVENT

YEAR C

05TH DECEMBER 2021

ENTRANCE ANTIPHON

O people of Sion, behold,
the Lord will come to save the nations,
and the Lord will make the glory of his voice heard
in the joy of your heart.

FIRST READING

A reading from the Prophet Baruch

Bar 5: 1 - 9

Jerusalem, take off your dress of sorrow and distress, put on the beauty of the glory of God for ever,
wrap the cloak of the integrity of God around you,
put the diadem of the glory of the Eternal on your head:
since God means to show your splendour to every nation
under heaven,
since the name God gives you for ever will be,
'Peace through integrity, and honour through devotedness'.
Arise, Jerusalem, stand on the heights
and turn your eyes to the east:
see your sons reassembled from west and east
at the command of the Holy One, jubilant that God has remembered them.

Though they left you on foot,
with enemies for an escort,
now God brings them back to you
like royal princes carried back in glory.
For God has decreed the flattening
of each high mountain, of the everlasting hills,
the filling of the valleys to make the ground level
so that Israel can walk in safety under the glory of God.
And the forests and every fragrant tree will provide shade
for Israel at the command of God;
for God will guide Israel in joy by the light of his glory
with his mercy and integrity for escort.

This is the word of the Lord

RESPONSORIAL PSALM

Ps 125

Response: The Lord has done great things for us;
we are filled with joy.

1. When the Lord delivered Zion from bondage,
it seemed like a dream.
Then was our mouth filled with laughter,
on our lips there were songs. (R.)
2. The heathens themselves said: 'What marvels
the Lord worked for them!'
What marvels the Lord worked for us!
Indeed we were glad. (R.)
3. Deliver us, O Lord, from our bondage
as streams in dry land.
Those who are sowing in tears
will sing when they reap. (R.)
4. They go out, they go out, full of tears,
carrying seed for the sowing:
they come back, they come back, full of song,
carrying their sheaves. (R.)

SECOND READING

A reading from the letter of St Paul to the Philippians

Phil 1: 3 - 6. 8 - 11

Every time I pray for all of you, I pray with joy, remembering how you have helped to spread the Good News from the day you first heard it right up to the present. I am quite certain that the One who began this good work in you will see that it is finished when the Day of Christ Jesus comes. God knows how much I miss you all, loving you as Christ Jesus loves you. My prayer is that your love for each other may increase more and more and never stop improving your knowledge and deepening your perception so that you can always recognise what is best.
This will help you to become pure and blameless, and prepare you for the Day of Christ, when you will reach the perfect goodness which Jesus Christ produces in us for the glory and praise of God.

GOSPEL ACCLAMATION

Alleluia, alleluia!

Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths:
all people shall see the salvation of God.

Alleluia!

GOSPEL

A reading from the holy Gospel according to St Luke

Lk 3: 1 - 6

In the fifteenth year of Tiberius Caesar's reign, when Pontius Pilate was governor of Judaea, Herod tetrarch of Galilee, his brother Philip tetrarch of the lands of Ituraea and Trachonitis, Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, during the pontificate of Annas and Caiaphas, the word of God came to John son of Zechariah, in the wilderness. He went through the whole Jordan district proclaiming a baptism of repentance for the forgiveness of sins, as it is written in the book of the sayings of the prophet Isaiah:

A voice cries in the wilderness; Prepare a way for the Lord, make his paths straight. Every valley will be filled in, every mountain and hill be laid low, winding ways will be straightened and rough roads made smooth.

And all mankind shall see the salvation of God.

This is the Gospel of the Lord

COMMENTARY

Two movements appear in this dramatic depiction of reversal of fortune. The grieving city of Jerusalem is told to replace its mourning garb with garments that bespeak splendour and rejoicing. The city whose name means 'foundation of peace', is given a new name: 'the peace of justice, the glory of God's worship'. Jerusalem is also told to stand on the heights and watch the resplendent return of its previously captured citizens. No reason is given for God's remarkable magnanimity. It is simply extended to Jerusalem and to its children. It is God's mercy that prompted the reversals, and the reversals witness this mercy to the rest of the world.

Believers trust that God will surely act on their behalf, because God has done so before. The great blessing of Israel's past was the return from exile. The response of the returnees was amazement. The graciousness of God, seen in this deliverance, speaks volumes to the other nations. It throws into bold relief God's saving power. This is a God who shows preference for those who are poor and marginalised in society, the homeless and the foreigner, the displaced and the refugee. The prayer for deliverance is straightforward: Restore us now as you restored us in the past. The people are confident that they will be heard.

Paul's affection for the Philippians is evident. It is more than merely human sentiment, as noble as that might be. It is identified with the affection that Christ has toward them. It is really the love of Christ expressing itself through him. Paul acknowledges that the spread and fruition of the word is really God's doing. Paul is merely the instrument that God has used to plant the seed. The eschatological character of this passage becomes clear when Paul identifies the time of full flowering as the day of Christ Jesus. Paul prays that their love for each will increase; and that they will be pure and blameless for the coming day of Christ.

The account of the ministry of John the Baptist is steeped in imagery that suggests new life. Some form of baptism was one of three requirements for becoming a Jew (along with circumcision and sacrifice). It was an ascetic act that at times signified turning away from evil, and at other times represented cleansing from sin, which was the divine answer to repentance. In either case, it carried an eschatological importance, marking the entrance into a new form of living. The baptism of John called for repentance (metánoia), a conversion or change of heart. This conversion was for the forgiveness of sin. Clearly the eschatological significance of John's baptism was salvation, not judgment. John is the herald of the coming of the Lord. Just as the exodus and return from exile involved a desert crossing, so the eschatological renewal proclaimed by John begins in the desert.

Youth Group Fundraising- Puddle Jumpers

In previous Youth Camps and through our weekly youth group sessions, we have often looked briefly into a concept called the corporal works of mercy. There are seven of them, and while each of them is extremely important, they all have one central aspect – that is giving to others, whether it be food, clothes and other material items, or even things like giving up your time. These corporal works of mercy are extremely important, because not only do they demonstrate our love for others in a very Christian way, but they also bring us closer to Jesus as we emulate his very actions during his time on Earth.

This December St Monica's FYRE will be organising gift hampers for young children who have gone through rough times and experiences that leave them especially vulnerable. To do this, we are partnering with Puddle Jumpers Inc (PJs), an amazing non-profit organisation that addresses the needs of these children through camps, activity days and free-food nights, to name a few. PJs aims to empower children to not only recognise and express their individual abilities and talents, but also to create a sense of community – one that promotes social inclusion, one that tolerates social diversity, one that allows kids to just be kids and jump in all the puddles. For more information or if you are interested in PJs' mission statement, please check out their website.

Each hamper will be the size of the shoebox and will be filled with essential items such as toiletries. On top of this, small surprises are also welcome, and these can include things like teddy bears, crayons, small books and so on. The sky's the limit! (or rather the size of the shoebox is the limit, but who says small things can't have a big impact?) These shoeboxes will be sent to a number of different age groups – 5-8 years, 8-12 years, and 12-15 years – for both boys and girls. If you are interested in donating feel free to ask one of the youth leaders, or contact us through our Instagram @fyrestmonicas. The cut-off day for donations will be the 12th of December! Even something small can mean a lot to someone, so please don't hesitate to give!
